Welcome to our 18th Spring Festival

We're delighted to bring you the line-up for this May's Festival - a fabulous mixture of well-known names, bestselling authors, leading experts and issue-led events that will make for some great conversations. We're really proud to be including as always several exciting emerging writers and writing workshops, because that's what book festivals are all about: providing a platform for the writers of tomorrow. Please come along and support them on their journey.

There's plenty to inspire young readers and, for the first time this year, we're including tabletop gaming - a brilliant angle on the magic of storytelling.

We look forward to having you with us.

Festival General Knowledge Quiz

£17 | 7-9pm

Roll up for our annual fundraising general knowledge quiz. Gather together a team of six of your cleverest friends and pit your wits against other teams to be the general knowledge champions of Stratford. We promise no literary questions - well, the odd one might slip in!

Tickets include a sharing platter per table and a donation to the Festival's outreach work in schools, the community and prisons.

Thursday 8th May

Alix Almond WORKSHOP: Linocut

£45 | 9am-12pm

Learn to linocut and create your own book plate or name plate to personalise your favourite books or journal. Carve and handprint a single colour design of your choice - be inspired by your favourite story - guided by printmaker Alix Almond. Come and find out all about the magic of the printing spoon! Suitable for beginners or those with some experience of linocut. Alix teaches linocut workshops across Coventry and Warwickshire. She uses a variety of linocut techniques to print single colour, reduction and layered linocuts and is inspired by landscapes, wildlife and colour. See her work at alixalmond.com

Julian Treasure and Alice Vincent Are You Listening?

£14 | 12-1pm

Hearing is the first sense we develop and yet, in an increasingly noisy and distracted world, most people pay scant attention to the sounds around them, causing them to lose contact with the essential skill of listening. Julian is an expert in communication and his TED Talk How to Speak so that People want to Listen is the sixth most-viewed TED Talk of all time. Why Women Grow author Alice Vincent's latest book asks if sound - seeking it, trying to hold on to it, making space for it in life - can reconnect us to lost parts of herself but to a life more consciously lived.

Thursday 8th May

Emma Barnett
A Love Letter to Mothers

£15 | 12-1pm

We welcome the new voice of the Radio 4 Today programme and former Woman's Hour presenter to talk about her work. Emma has balanced her broadcasting career with raising two young children and health concerns, yet her experience of maternity leave left her unprepared for the more complicated reality of what it means to be on maternity service. She sets out to capture this reality so familiar to many women, and celebrates the work of being on maternity leave, with its soaring highs and challenging lows, and its impact on how women feel about our purpose and ourselves. Babies are welcome at this event.

Thursday 8th May

Chloe Dalton
and Lottie Hazell
Raising Hare and Piglet

£10 | 2-3pm

Meet two authors whose books smashed through the debut charts last year and continue to dominate the best-seller charts. Raising Hare chronicles the journey and challenges of caring for a leveret and preparing for its return to the wild, sharing firsthand an extraordinary relationship between human and animal, serving to remind us that the most remarkable experiences, inspiring the most hope, often arise when we least expect them. Local author Lottie Hazell's debut novel Piglet received huge acclaim and is a deliciously dark and piercing story of food and secrets.

Talking to Deirdre Shields

Thursday 8th May

Susie Dent
A Woman of Words

£15 | 2-3pm

The queen of Dictionary Corner delves into her holdall of words and amazing word phrases, and also reveals her debut novel which unsurprisingly is a crime novel based around words! When an anonymous letter is delivered to the Clarendon English Dictionary, it puzzles the team of lexicographers. When more letters arrive and the team pull apart the clues within them, the questions become more insistent and troubling. Someone is trying to lead the lexicographers to the truth, while another is desperate to keep it buried.

Thursday 8th May

Daniel Swift
The Dream Factory -
London's First Playhouse

£14 | 3-4pm

In 1576, in a muddy field in Shoreditch, James Burbage erected London's first purpose-built commercial playhouse. Through the life of this little-known playhouse, discover how Shakespeare became Shakespeare, how the Elizabethan stage began to flourish and the world that produced Romeo and Juliet and A Midsummer Night's Dream. Daniel Swift teaches at the New College of the Humanities in London. His first book, Bomber County, was longlisted for the Samuel Johnson Prize and the Guardian First Book Award, and his essays and reviews have appeared in The New York Times, New Statesman, and Harper's Magazine.

Your Life is Manufactured

£15 | 4-5pm

We live in a manufactured world and there exists a nearly invisible, awe-inspiring global system of manufacturing that enables virtually every aspect of our existence. The Professor of Innovation at the University of Cambridge charts how this world came to be, and reveals the seismic impact manufacturing has had on our lives and the natural world, exploring how it could offer us a path to a truly sustainable future, and gives us the ability to make better choices for ourselves, our communities and the planet.

Talking to Deirdre Shields

Thursday 8th May

Carol Klein
Hortobiography

£16 | 4-5pm

The BBC Gardener's World presenter has rescheduled after traffic issues stopped her being with us in 2024. Her memoir talks about her life as a plantswoman from her first experiments in plantswomanship in her Devon cottage garden, to an entirely unexpected career as one of Britain's most familiar television presenters. She explores why our relationship with the natural world is so important, and what it brings to our lives.

Talking to Julia Wheeler

Thursday 8th May

Phil Craig
1945 The Reckoning

£14 | 4.30-5.30pm

Sub-titled: War, Empire and the Struggle for a New World, the latest book by The Scandal Mongers Podcaster and TV producer looks at the legacy of WW2. Clearing away the haze of nostalgia, he considers the many uncomfortable truths that emerge about attempts to rekindle empires and the clumsy decisions that have informed the shape of the world today. What did victory in the Second World War truly mean for the world, and the British, Dutch and French especially?

Talking to John Jefferies

Thursday 8th May

Diana Henry
Crazy Water, Pickled Lemons
£16 | 5.30-6.30pm

The ideal event for foodies, especially those who love the cuisine of the Middle East, Mediterranean and North Africa. The bestselling Daily Telegraph food writer's first book has been republished and gathers together dishes that combine colourful, aromatic and perfumed ingredients, bringing an intoxicating whiff of warmer climes to your table. Diana Henry is the author of eight further cookbooks and was the Guild of Food Writers Cookery Journalist of the Year in 2007, 2009 and 2015, and won the Fortnum & Mason Cookery Writer Award in 2019.

Talking to Tim Hubbard

Thursday 8th May

Giles Milton
The Stalin Affair
£16 | 6-7pm

The internationally bestselling historian's latest book reveals the remarkable true story of the Allies' secret mission to wartime Moscow in 1941. Stalin's forces faced a catastrophic defeat which would make the Allies' liberation of Europe virtually impossible, until Britain and America mobilised an elite team of remarkable people with the mission of keeping the Red Army in the war, discovering as they did so that the Soviet dictator had a terrifying masterplan for the post-war world.

Talking to Clare Clark

Thursday 8th May

Dan Richards
Overnight: Stories After Dark
£14 | 7-8pm

The Sunday Times bestselling author takes us on an exploration of night - the nocturnal world, insomnia, the creative potential of the dark hours, the work that happens at night to keep the modern world moving. What can Moomintroll teach us about insomnia? What can international shipping, ferries and trains offer us as a lifeline? Overnight is a celebration of all things nocturnal, of those who labour while the rest of us sleep.

Talking to Jo Durrant

Thursday 8th May

Jonn Elledge
A History of the World in 47 Borders
£14 | 7-8pm

People have been drawing lines on maps for as long as there have been maps to draw on. Sometimes rooted in physical geography, sometimes entirely arbitrary, these lines might often have looked very different if a war or treaty or the decisions of a handful of tired Europeans had gone a different way. The journalist and former Assistant Editor of New Statesman tells the stories of these borders, explaining how political identities were shaped, why the world looks the way it does - and the hilarious scale of human folly.

Mishal Husain Broken Threads

£16 | 7.45pm-8.45pm

Mishal Husain is a respected and widely recognised figure formally as a Radio 4 Today presenter and TV newsreader for the BBC, and now as Editor-at Large for Bloomberg. Her Sunday Times bestselling memoir gives a personal and unique perspective of India in 1947, when Partition created the new state of Pakistan, by centring the experiences of her four grandparents. Her research is accompanied by letters, diaries, unpublished memoirs, tapes and interviews with her surviving family, and interrogates the impact of colonialism, imperialism, religion and conflict that continues to echo today.

NATURE'S RARE JEWELS

Friday 9th May

Ellie Stevenson WORKSHOP: Family History through Artefacts

£25 | 9.30-11.30am

Following last year's sell out workshop, the book coach and author returns to show you how to delve even deeper into your family's history through exploring the stories behind familiar objects. In this hands-on workshop, you'll discover how photos, letters and household items can enrich your understanding of your family's past, and bring that past to life. Through practical activities and exercises, you'll explore the history behind such items, discover their significance in your family and learn how to use them to create a legacy.

Friday 9th May

Dr Lucy Pollock The Golden Rule

£15 | 10-11am

In a society obsessed with staying young, how can we age with confidence? Today, we are living longer, and have choices about how we will age. What will make us happy? What are we frightened of, and what might allay those fears? What changes will help us to flourish as we age? The bestselling doctor who specialises in older people shares what she has learned over 30 years about loss, impossible families, becoming older without children, sexuality, race, love and living with uncertainty. Discover principles we can all try to live by to bring positive change, so we all benefit from a kinder, more compassionate society.

Friday 9th May

Alayo Akinkugbe, Lucy Steeds & Joe Tucker Who's Art For?

£10 | 11.30am-12.30pm

The art world has always been steeped in snobbery with women, working class artists and people of colour the most under-represented. Three writers address this through fiction and real lives. Joe Tucker's uncle Eric's enormous body of work wasn't discovered until his death and now sells for thousands. Lucy Steed's novel exposes how one woman fought back against being marginalised and Alayo Akinkugbe considers how Black people have had no place in the history of art.

Talking to Tim Hubbard

Friday 9th May

Sir Graham Brady Kingmaker

£16 | 12-1pm

Sir Graham Brady was the chairman of the powerful 1922 Committee from 2010. As the leader of the group with the power to choose a new leader of the Conservative Party, it was his hand that held the executioner's axe over five consecutive Prime Ministers' heads. Silent until now and with access to every key decision-maker of the past 14 years, he offers unique insights into the character and choices of successive Prime Ministers and the administrations they led, and what the future holds for the Tory party. Friday 9th May

Mary Costello and Elaine Garvey A Celebration of Irish Writing

£12 | 12.30-1.30pm

We're bringing together two exciting voices that confirm the huge regard held for Irish writers. Mary Costello's short story collection, The China Factory, was nominated for the Guardian First Book Award and shortlisted for an Irish Book Award and her first novel, Academy Street, was named overall Irish Book of the Year and was serialised on BBC Radio 4's Book at Bedtime. Elaine Garvey has also published short stories and her first novel, The Wardrobe Department, is set between the bustling streets of Soho and the sweet grass of Leitrim and Donegal.

Talking to Clare Clark

Friday 9th May

Marianne Brown The Shetland Way

£12 | 1-2pm

The need for energy to run our world is non-negotiable, but how do we balance that necessity with preserving the natural world and the earth's resources, and ensuring communities aren't exploited, especially those that are more deprived? Confined to Shetland due to Covid, and after the death of her father, the environmental journalist shares her experience of discovering a father she barely knew, and learning how the controversy of the proposed installation of wind farms had split the community. £8 | 7-8pm

Tabletop role-playing games are not new (Dungeons and Dragons recently celebrated its 50th anniversary!) but they have exploded in popularity in the last five years. Have you ever wondered what all the fuss is about? Join Professional Game Master Jasper William Cartwright (Three Black Halflings, NADDPOD, Dimension 20) as he talks all things D&D - from how to play the game, to creating memorable characters, to building a world to explore. Whether you're interested in storytelling but a complete newbie to the game, an experienced D&D player or someone looking for top tips on running your own game, come along to find out more about the art of making up a story with your friends.

Guy Shrubsole The Lie of the Land

£14 | 11am-12pm

Just 1% of the population own half of England, and are paid billions of pounds of public money to be good stewards. But what happens when they don't care for it? The environmentalist and writer explains how communities are fighting back: the river guardians, small farmers and trespassing activists restoring our lost wildlife. He offers a bold vision for our nation's wild places, and how we can treat them with the awe and attention they deserve. Guy is a double Sunday Times bestseller and winner of the Wainwright Prize for Conservation.

Tom Baldwin and Marc Stears England: Seven Myths that Changed a Country

£15 | 12-1pm

As the new government heads for a year in office, the bestselling biographer of Sir Keir Starmer and the influential head of the think tank, the UCL Policy Lab, unravel seven myths that have distorted ideas of this country and have provided ammunition for charlatans or culture warriors from both left and right. Travelling across the country, from muddy fields in the Home Counties to the ports of Plymouth and Hull, they spoke with many different people, including politicians Nigel Farage and David Lammy, playwright James Graham and scientist Sarah Gilbert, to discover a startling picture of a country that belongs to no one in particular.

Vybarr Cregan-Reid and Daisy Buchanan Books - The Final Chapter?

£14 | 12.30-1.30pm

Two writers share the joy of books and the impact they can have on our lives at a time when the arts are being squeezed out at every level and where book bans in schools and libraries have surged to record highs. Author and broadcaster, Vybarr Cregan-Reid uncovers the profound impact that books have in shaping our reality at a time when their value is under attack from governments around the world. Writer Daisy Buchanan invites us to discover the literary worlds that have helped her in unwinding anxiety to survive - and thrive. But what if, in our brave new digital world, books are no longer relevant?

Stefan Stern Fair or Foul - The Lady Macbeth Guide to Ambition

Most of us wrestle with daunting life-choice questions from time to time. What should I be aiming for? Am I being ambitious enough? Has an excess of ambition led me astray? The journalist and management writer who is Visiting Professor at Bayes Business School considers different aspects of ambition and its place in our lives. He asks. What does success mean? When is enough enough? And is Lady Macbeth right to suggest that only those with the 'illness' of ambition achieve the highest goals?

Books with Friends

We run three free sessions on the last Thursday of the month in the centre of Stratford at which over a cup of coffee members share their thoughts on a book they've all read. We especially welcome people who find themselves a bit isolated for whatever reason. If you would like to join the group, please email us at info@stratfordliteraryfestival.co.uk

Bedtime Story Workshops in Prisons

Since 2017, we've been running workshops in prisons across the country with the children's authors Hollie Hughes and Smriti Prasadam-Halls, teaching prisoners to write a bedtime story for their children, which we then professionally produce for them. The aim of the workshops is to reduce the trauma for the child of having a parent in prison, and to discourage reoffending. Find out more on our website: stratlitfest.co.uk

Terms and Conditions

Most events take place at the Crowne Plaza Hotel, but please check your ticket and website before you travel.

- » All events take place at the venue printed on your ticket. You will be contacted by email in advance of an event if the venue or any details change.
- » Tickets are sold through an external box office. Tickets are non-refundable and cannot be exchanged. All tickets booked by phone or online incur a booking fee. This booking fee is charged by our external box office. Postal ticket delivery is an additional £2.50. Should a ticket be refunded because of an unavoidable cancellation or circumstances beyond the Festival's control, the booking fee will not be returned.
- » Tickets will be on sale at the Festival information desk during the Festival, unless an event is sold out. The booking number and online booking link can be found on each page of our programme and on our website.
- » All seats are unreserved. Some events may have staggered pricing based on where you will be seated in the auditorium.
- » No animals are permitted into the Crowne Plaza Hotel except assistance dogs.
- » Accessibility: all venues can accommodate wheelchairs and those with mobility issues, and there is an accessible toilet. All venues have step-free access. Please contact us on info@stratfordliteraryfestival.co.uk if you have particular needs or require a seat close to the stage due to hearing or sight challenges. All speakers use a microphone.
- » Children under 14 years must be accompanied by a responsible adult (over 18 years of age). We cannot accept responsibility for unaccompanied children. Children over 14 may attend alone but must be delivered and collected by a responsible adult and are not the responsibility of the Festival. Adults attending children's events are expected to buy a ticket unless otherwise stated. Children under 2 and babes in arms who do not require a seat do not need a ticket.
- » We reserve the right to alter the programme or substitute performers if circumstances dictate and we will do our very best to replace like with like. Please check our website or follow us on Instagram for programme change alerts. Ticket-bookers will also be emailed about any programme changes.
- » All events are an hour long unless otherwise stated. Books are available to buy at each event and authors will sign copies of their books after each event. Books featured at the Festival and those signed at earlier events will be on sale at Waterstones, 8 High Street. We request that you do not bring copies of books for signature not purchased at the event.
- » Some events may be filmed or recorded. By buying a ticket you are giving your consent to be filmed or recorded as a member of the audience. Please let one of the Festival team know if you do not wish to be in a photograph.
- » All details and prices are correct at time of going to press.

CRAFTING NATURE'S RARE JEWELS

Once the centrepiece of an antique brooch, this rare Kashmir Sapphire's story is being rewritten. First discovered in the rugged hills of Northern India in the 1880's, this gemstone exhibits an exquisite cornflower blue colour and a soft silk velvet texture, synonymous with the finest of precious Kashmir Sapphires. Our craftsmen considered ways to showcase this exceptional stone, finally mounting it between diamonds in platinum with yellow gold claws. Perfectly prepared for its next chapter.
